"Ombra"

It means shade and it's a typical Venetian word used for centuries.

It was born in St Mark's Square, Venice's top meeting place.

People loved to stand in the square just to talk.

To keep the wine fresh and in the shade, despite the summer heat which suffocated the whole city,

they used to move their stands around the Bell tower, following the shade of the Campanile.

So try an Ombra di Bianco (a glass of white wine)

o di Rosso (red wine) and grab yourself a selection of cicchetti!!!!
